

July 25, 2011

The Honorable Jeff Bingaman
United States Senate
703 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington DC, 20510

Dear Senator Bingaman,

As direct care workers and advocates, we are writing to ask for your co-sponsorship of the Direct Care Job Quality Improvement Act in the 122th Congress, Senate Bill 1273. You have been a great supporter of issues affecting direct care workers and we are writing to ask for your help once again.

Direct care is one of the fastest growing professions in our nation, and investing in these jobs will help rebuild our national and local economy. This bill will extend wage and overtime protections to home care workers, who have been repeatedly, denied justice under the Fair Labor Standards Act. We provide indispensable care and services to the elderly and individuals living with disabilities. But too often, poor working conditions lead to high (50-80%) turnover in this workforce, jeopardizing the quality of care provided to those who need it most.

The Direct Care Job Quality Improvement Act was introduced by Sen. Robert P. Casey, Jr. in the Senate, and Rep. Linda Sanchez in the House. Thus far, Senators Tom Harkin, Kirsten Gillibrand and Bernie Sanders have also signed on as co-sponsors. In addition to extending basic labor protections to home care workers, it will also strengthen data collection and workforce monitoring and improve direct care workforce recruitment and retention by providing grants to states for worker training.

Personal and home care aides are the second fastest-growing occupation both nationally and in New Mexico. Figures from the U.S. Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics indicate that in 2006, there were 21,520 New Mexicans whose primary occupation was nursing assistant, home health aide or personal care/home care aide. Furthermore, annual job openings for these occupations are expected to increase 58 percent between 2006 and 2016. This figure translates to 6,190 additional job openings in New Mexico for personal and home care aides by the year 2016, but the direct care industry must be stable enough to support this growth, with competitive wages that make it an attractive option to qualified job-seekers.

Please help us lead the way in New Mexico to provide much needed stability in the long-term care workforce for seniors and the disabled, and equal opportunity for those who care for them by co-sponsoring the Direct Care Job Quality Improvement Act in the Senate this year.

July 25, 2011
Page 2

Thank you for your time, interest and effort on behalf of New Mexico's direct caregivers.

Richard J. Bela, President
Conzeho, Inc.

Alex Brandt, Vice President, Board of Directors
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition

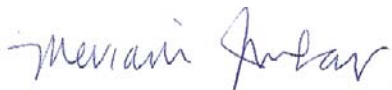

Anne Marie Carillo, Executive Director
Carlacare, Inc.

Mark Cerna, President, Board of Directors
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition

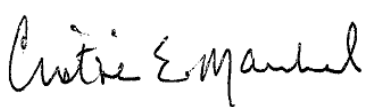

Connie DeHerrera, Executive Director
New Mexico Center for Self-Advocacy

Jeanne Desjardins, Director, Board of Directors
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition

Meriam Jehwar, Director, Board of Directors
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition

Barbara Ann Kline
Nursing Assistant Program Coordinator
University of New Mexico-Gallup

Cristine Marchand, Executive Director
New Mexico Developmental Disabilities
Planning Council

Rose Martinez, Secretary, Board of Directors
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition

Janet Blanchard, M.D.
University of New Mexico

Willa Ortega, Director, Board of Directors
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition

Deborah Reumann, MSW, Executive Director
Open House, LLC

Adrienne R. Smith, Managing Director
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition

Alecia Springer, Treasurer, Board of Directors
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition

Denise Tierney, CRC. President
YesWeCanNewMexico, Inc.

Barbara K. Webber, Gerontologist
Executive Director, Health Action New Mexico

Fred Weis, Director, Board of Directors
New Mexico Direct Caregivers Coalition